Words of counsel and warning were addressed to journalists at a Memorial Hall, gathering of the Congregational Union on May 13, by Mr D. G. Lathbury, late editor of the Press.

Close upon half a century has passed, he said, since he dropped his first article into the box of the Morning Star. Its office was on the spot where the New Gailey Theatre now stood. The change might be parlable of English journalism. It was now lighter, but he did not know that it continued to less heaviness on the part of the reader. Punch was ever full of laughter, but no paper had better maintained the dignity of the English Press. Fifty years ago, however, journalists thought more of journalism and less of themselves. It was anonymous, and a small profession. But now a new public had created a new journalism.

Touching on the relations between editor and capitalist, Mr Lathbury said it could hardly be a matter of indifference whether Free Trade or Tariff Reform shaped the future. A journalist should always be ready to sweep a crossing rather than give way on vital points.

On the question of betting news, he said in one case a proprietor had faced the question and answered it in heroic fashion by deciding to exclude turf news. He had great respect for such heroic action, but he thought the judgment was mistaken. The function of a newspaper was to give a picture of the world, and make what comments it liked. The exclusion of such news gave a false air of innocence to the news that was admitted. Stock Exchange and football intelligence might be as dangerous as turf news. So bad play if notices of them were excluded, the public would have no guide. If Divorce Court proceedings were left out, the terrors of that Court would be greatly lessened, and the intervention of the King's Procurator in collusive actions might be curtailed. For all these things decent reserve of language was better than exclusion.

On the question of an editor's relations to his contributors, there were two views. Looks had said the test of a good editor was to rewrite an article without the contributor discovering it. Others declared no alteration should be made. But it should be remembered, said Mr Lathbury, that sometimes, if the matter were excellent, the form might be bad, and, further, that the editor was responsible for unsigned articles. The idea that a contributor was expected to change his opinions was greatly exaggerated, for the editor could easily change his contributors to other subjects.

The ethics of journalism differed but little from the ethics of human conduct generally. The difference between the barrister and the journalist was this—that the one was avowedly an advocate, whereas the journalist was supposed to be the jury—that is, to give his opinion after weighing both sides.

A TEN DAYS' SIEGE.

One Man Defies 700 Soldiers.

CHATELLERAULT, May 14.—Roy, the ex-gamekeeper, who for ten days and nights has terrorised the countryside by firing upon and wounding at least half-a-dozen persons, has at last been taken prisoner by the authorities.

Desperate measures had to be adopted before the 'fort' in which he had entrenched himself fell. No fewer than 600 infantry and three brigades of gendarmes surrounded the place, and, though Roy had been 'sniped' at continuously, it was not until his dwelling-place had been partially demolished by minite, that he fell into the hands of the enemy.

The siege began in this way. Roy, who is seventy years of age, was convicted of poaching, and this so exasperated him that he swore to be revenged. His first step was to fire on Mr. Grallard, whom he accused of having been the cause of getting him dismissed from his situation. Immediately afterwards Roy barricaded himself in his domicile, and declared that he would 'do' for anyone who dared to cross his threshold.

His threat was not an idle one, for when a batiff, brigadier of gendarmes, a sergeant, and a soldier approached the house they were received with a charge of buckshot.

Roy's house was situated in a slight eminence, and he could command the approaches in all directions. He made loop-holes in the walls and kept watch night and day. When anyone came within range of his gun he opened fire. He was so well supplied with provisions, and, for several days after being besieged, he appeared at the windows and threw corn and bran to the poultry and rabbits in his garden.

The inhabitants of the district grew to fear him, for they could not pass his dwelling without risk of losing their lives. Finally, they became so incensed that the best plan would be to starve Roy out, resorted to more energetic measures.

It was first of all decided to bombard the house with artillery, but the authorities objected to this plan, so the order was given to blow up part of the citadel with minite.

At two o'clock 8,000 people had gathered in the vicinity, and these were kept at a safe distance by 700 soldiers. A minite fuse, containing 230 charges of that explosive, had been placed against the left wall of the house by an intrepid lieutenant and four sappers. Roy apparently suspected nothing, for he made no sign.

When all was ready a bugle was blown, and the sentinels, who were close to the doomed 'fortress,' immediately retired.

A moment passed, and then there was a loud report, a violent shock, and a cloud of dust and smoke.

Cautiously a number of soldiers advanced to the house, or what remained of it. The watchful outlaw saw them coming, and with agility almost incredible in a man of his years, he dropped from a window to the ground and took to his heels.

The crowd saw him and with yells of 'Lynch him' they gave chase across the fields. The old man was soon surrounded, and the infuriated crowd struck and beat him unmercifully. But for the arrival of the soldiers he would have been killed.

A stretcher was procured, and on this he was conveyed to a neighbouring shed. At six o'clock, protected by a strong military escort, he was carried to Châtellerault Hospital, where he now lies in a very battered condition.—D. Express.

"ALL OVER THE WORLD,"
AN OLD SOLDIER, CURED OF SEVERE IN-DIGESTION, TELLS WHY AND WHERE HE RECOMMENDS MOTHER SELIG'S SYRUP.

"I have since then recommended Mother Selig's Syrup to my friends all over the world, the Gold Coast especially." This is the statement of a veteran soldier of the British army, who was born in the West Indies, served in the Ashanti war and is still in the service. He had suffered for years from indigestion in Jamaica and has since felt its distressing pains and disquietments in Africa. In all cases, on both sides of the world, he turned to Mother Selig's syrup for relief, to Mother Selig's syrup chiefly because his own mother had used it successfully with his and other officers' children.

Mr. Carter is a native of Kingston, Jamaica, now which city he has lived on a large plantation. He enlisted in the First West India Regiment, and was promoted through various ranks to that of Quartermaster-Sergeant, serving in all, for 27 years. He lives now in 25, Fane Street, South End, Port Elizabeth. His experience has been of particular interest, so we give his letter, dated November 21, 1904, just as it was received:

THE SOLDIER'S OWN STORY.

"I cannot recollect the exact date of my first attack of indigestion, but anyway I was a Quartermaster-Sergeant of the 1st British West India Regiment at the time and stationed at Gibraltar. I used to feel out of sorts; I always felt as though I had eaten too much, even though, in fact, it was to the smallest morsel. I had a blown-out, puffed-up, sensation after each meal; and I can assure you I felt miserable."

"Remembering that my parents had died, Mother Selig's Syrup for the young ones, and of our family and as they planned their faith to Mother Selig's curative powers, I considered I would not go far wrong by giving it a trial myself. I had suffered for years and was determined to get rid of my trouble somehow. I was walking up Orange Street, Kingston, and I called in to Dr. Goddard's chemist shop, and there I purchased a bottle of Mother Selig's Syrup. I used it for about two months, at the end of which I found I had no further need of medicines or doctors; I was completely cured."

"I have since then recommended Mother Selig's Syrup to my friends all over the world, the Gold Coast especially, where I had to give myself another course of Selig's owing to the severe climatic conditions, especially unhealthy certain parts of our lives. I am still employing good health and pleased to be able to give you this statement."

RUSSIAN VESSELS AT SAIGON.

Collars Discharging.

According to latest advices from Saigon there are still number of Russian ships in French waters, including three men-of-war. Captain Jackson of the steamer "Leertes" reports that when he left the French Colony, on the 18th instant, there were two vessels of the Volunteer Fleet and about 20 colliers in the Saigon River and at Cape St James he saw a cruiser which he made out to be the "Kauban." She had three funnels and two masts. Considerable activity was displayed among the colliers, about six of them being busy unloading coal.

FRESH RIOTS AT LODZ.

A WORKMEN'S ENORMOUS DEMONSTRATION.

Fired on by Soldiers.—Eighteen Killed.

LONDON, June 22.

Reuters' correspondent at Lodz wires that a great demonstration has been held by the workmen of that district as a protest against the brutality shown on previous occasions by the Cossacks.

The concourse was a large one, it being estimated that 50,000 men were present.

They paraded the streets, waving banners, and shouting out: "Down with Despotism."

Suddenly the workmen were attacked by soldiers.

From sidestreets and lanes Cossacks and Dragoons rushed out, who poured several volleys into the crowd of workmen.

Their firing has the desired effect for the crowd were dispersed.

Eighteen workmen were killed and 100 wounded.

LONDON, June 21.

Mr Balfour is appointing a Royal Commission to continue the stores scandal investigation, and the Opposition has given notice of a motion for a vote of censure on the Government in this connection.

PRINCE ARISUGAWA'S VISIT TO ENGLAND.

The importance of the approaching visit of Prince Arisugawa is fully recognized, and every honour due to the exalted representative of our ally will be paid; Admiral Neville and General Nicholson will be specially attached to His Highness, who will be lodged in York House.

The Prince will be entertained at lunch by the Lord Mayor and the Corporation of London at the Guildhall, and various royal and other fêtes will be arranged.

Fourth of July at Manila.

The Fourth of July celebrations to be held at Manila next month promise to be on an elaborate scale. As the shipping companies, it is said, are to offer special facilities for visitors to Manila, and as the three interned Russian men-of-war are in the harbour, it is probable that a large number of visitors will cross to Manila.

Hongkong the Dumping Ground.

An Indian was proceeded against, at the Magistracy, this morning, by the captain of the steamer "Sea Lion" for stowing away on board the steamer, on her last voyage from Singapore to Hongkong. The captain stated that the defendant first came on board when the vessel was at Colombo and begged pitifully for a passage to Singapore. He granted this and when the vessel arrived at Singapore he went ashore but returned later and said that he had failed to obtain employment and asked to be carried on to Hongkong but the captain told him he could not do so and ordered him to leave the ship. Defendant went away but as soon as the steamer had gone out of the harbour he came on deck again. Witness added that the defendant was destitute except for a few dollars he had given him, and but for the fact that the ship had been sold in Japan he would willingly carry him back to Colombo. Mr E. A. Hazelhurst imposed a fine of $15 with the alternative of three weeks' gaol with hard labour.

War.

"I had a bad case of neuralgia which I contracted during the war. Tried several kinds of medicine but they did no good until a friend of mine recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm which gave me immediate relief. I have had no trouble since and must say that I find Chamberlain's Pain Balm a fine liniment. I have since used it for other troubles and always with good results." —J. Wilson, Jarrow.

Telephone, No. 22.

There were many rumours circulating in the city to-day regarding affairs at the front. Some say that a big engagement has been fought and that Japan has scored another victory, whilst others have it that the Russian army has been completely surrounded and another Sedan is about to be perpetrated. We were unable to secure any confirmatory intelligence, though the Japanese Consul, Mr. M. Noma, said he expected news shortly.

The following telephone conversation is reported to have been heard between a certain well-known young financier and a society woman whose functions are considered somewhat boring:—

"Is this Mr. —?"

"Yes."

"This is Mrs. —. Won't you give us the pleasure of your company at dinner on Monday?"

"I'm sorry, Mrs. —, but I have an engagement for Monday."

"Can you come Tuesday, then?"

"Why, it is most unfortunate, but I have a partial engagement for Tuesday also."

"Well, how about Wednesday?"

"Oh, hang it! I'll come Monday."

Mr. Hespeler, claiming to be an American citizen, a claim disallowed by the American Consul-General at Tientsin, was brought up before the British Consul-General there on the 8th on the charge of defrauding a Chinese of $20, by professing himself to be a Customs officer.

SUPREME COURT.

IN ORIGINAL JURISDICTION.

(Before His Lordship Mr F. T. Piggott, Chief Justice.)

Friday, June 23.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

The case in which the Court was asked to determine whether Lam Tung or Nam Loong firm were entitled to the sum of $2,600 which was in the custody of the Court was heard to-day.

Mr H. E. Pollock, K. C. instructed by Mr C. F. Dixon, appeared for Lam Tung and Mr H. N. Ferrers, instructed by Mr J. Hayes, represented the Nam Loong.

This action was begun in November last year at Saigon by Lam Tung suing the Captain Superintendent of Police for $2,600, being money found on Chow Kwan, whose extradition from Hongkong was applied for in August of the same year. Lam Tung was in the habit of travelling to and from Hongkong to Saigon for trading purposes. On a trip by sea, "Kinsan" he had various sums given to him. During the voyage the vessel encountered a typhoon and to ensure the safety of the money Lam Tung handed it to Chow Kwan, who was a passenger. After landing Chow Kwan was arrested and the police in Hongkong took charge of the money.

Lam Tung now claimed the money and the Nam Loong firm of Saigon also claimed it.

Certain questions had been put by Mr Ferrers to witnesses which were objected to by Mr Pollock, but after considerable argument the Chief Justice decided that a man's acts, incidental to and corroborating the claim, were relative to the claim and could be admitted.

Mr Ferrers produced a document, in French, purporting to be a judgment of the proceedings in the French Appeal Court.

Mr Pollock objected to its admission. It could not be evidence against the plaintiff, he submitted.

The Chief Justice asked what part of the case did it raise. Was it not rather evidence in support of the defendant's case as opposed to the opposition of Mr Pollock's client?

Mr Pollock read the document and said that he had no objection to it going in and being read by the Chief Justice subject to any objection he (Mr Pollock) might raise in connection with it later on.

Mr Ferrers then read the document. It was an appeal from a judgment given at Vichlong on March 18, 1905, which sentenced Chow Kwan to five years' imprisonment and Li Sam to three years' imprisonment. The appeal was between Li Sam and Chow Kwan on the one side and Nam Loong. The judgment produced showed that the former sentence was upheld.

The further hearing was adjourned.

MERRIMENT IN POTTINGER STREET.

Trying to Sing the Marseillaise.

Madame Guion, proprietress of the "Pension Francaise" was summoned, at the Magistracy, this morning, for allowing a disturbance to be carried on her premises calculated to disturb the tranquility of the neighbourhood.

L. S. Evans said that on the 19th instant he was returning from duty a few minutes after midnight and heard a disturbance coming from the defendant's boarding house, as of a lot of people shouting. He knocked at the door and cautioned the defendants to be quiet but on returning from the station some time later he found the disturbance still going on and he spoke to the defendant and told her that she was keeping a very disorderly house.

Cross-examined by Mr M. J. Stephens, who represented the defendant, witness said there was a great deal of noise. He first heard it from Hollywood road. He did not tell the defendant to shut her box. "That means Your Worship," explained Mr Stephens, "to shut her mouth."

Sergeant Garrard also stated that he heard the noise from his quarters opposite. The people were singing snatches of songs, in French. He thought they were trying to sing what they called the Marseillaise. The noise kept witness awake for some hours.

By Mr Stephens—The police had, as far as he knew, been friendly towards the house and he did not know that they had changed their attitude.

The defence was that a few friends had just at supper at the defendant's house and over a glass of wine, perhaps became a little merry and sang a few songs and were talking in French. There was no intention to create a disturbance. It was just a convivial gathering to entertain a friend who was visiting the Colony.

Mr Stephens asked that the summons should be dismissed. He submitted that it was surely not an offence for the defendant to have a convivial gathering with a few friends in her own house. The neighbours did not complain and never had done so; it was merely the police.

His Worship—Don't you consider the police member of the community? They live close by.

Mr Stephens said that they all knew that French people on occasions like that in question became a little lively and if the police liked to go round they would find lots of similar parties going on in private houses. At the Hongkong Club and German Club parties were often kept up until one o'clock but they were not interfered with. People were not very like they used to be in the days of the Curfew Bell and could not have all lights out at 8 o'clock. The police had recently given the defendant so much trouble that she could not stay at the house any longer and was about to move to a place in Zetland Street.

Mr Hazelton held that there had been a disturbance and imposed a fine of $5 and ordered the defendant to enter into a bond of $100 for her good behaviour for 12 months.

CONSULAR CHANGES AT AMOY.

(From Our Correspondent.)

AMOY, June 18.

It is with great regret that I have to announce that the English Consul Mr Haussner has just left us for a furlough home. He will be greatly missed, for he was a man who performed his duties in the office well and faithfully. He was a first-class Chinese scholar and he was also a shrewd business man, and spared no pains in making himself master of any case that came before him officially. When he was once assured that it was a perfectly genuine case he left no stone unturned to secure justice from the Chinese Mandarins. Our regret of his loss is somewhat mitigated by the fact that Mr Mansfield, the permanent Consul of this port, who has been at home for some time, is expected at any moment to resume his duties. He is most popular with all classes and his return will be heralded with great pleasure by everyone who has the privilege of making his acquaintance. We are, indeed, fortunate with our officials in Amoy, and we congratulate ourselves on having such excellent men to look after our interests.

—We no longer admit the business enterprise of the Japanese in this country.

We have now to ponder over this waste of money, because of all the foolish publications Shanghai

(BY THE NOONETTY.)

The funeral of Zih Chin Foo, formerly Comptroller of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, was a veryagger affair. The worthy gentleman died on May 1st, but his funeral did not take place until last Sunday, as it is presumed his relatives had plenty of time in which to mourn and incidentally feast. What, in the eyes of Europeans, a farce these grand processions are, and what a terrible waste of money. Imagine the death of a statesman at home and what astonishment it would cause, if banners bearing legends of his good deeds preceded the coffin. What would his political opponents think of some of them? In this instance, the procession took over an hour to pass in the Foochow Road, as two thousand persons followed, and this number without counting the native military escort and police. Besides being very wealthy, the deceased was a mandarin of some rank, but his loss is somewhat mitigated by the fact that Mr Mansfield, the permanent Consul of this port, who has been at home for some time, is expected at any moment to resume his duties. He is most popular with all classes and his return will be heralded with great pleasure by everyone who has the privilege of making his acquaintance. We are, indeed, fortunate with our officials in Amoy, and we congratulate ourselves on having such excellent men to look after our interests.

has ever suffered, here we have one of the poorest. Reports of local events were almost unknown and it seemed run for one object alone which they now freely divulge.

Mr Evans, who originally owned the paper, agreed to sell it to Mr Ferris for $14,000, $9,000 to be paid down, and the remaining $5,000 to be paid only in the event of it proving a success, for which a three years trial was to be allowed. Mr Ferris promised to give no-one an interest in the journal until Mr Evans had paid off, but nevertheless a Bill of Sale was negotiated through a Mr Yamamoto. In view of all the evidence, Mr Justice Sammarco decided that the judgment should be given to Mr Evans for the $14,000 less $1000 which has already been paid, also $140 interest, and that a fortnight should be given defendant to draw up a proper account showing whether the concern had proved a paying one, proceeding which did not at all seem to appeal to Mr Ferris's mind, in which case we may presume he would give the other $5,000 will also be awarded.

GREAT BILLIARD MATCH.

Roberts v. Stevenson.

On May 22 the biggest billiard match in the annals of the indoor game was commenced at the Caxton Hall, Westminster, John Roberts, for years and years the unrivalled master of his art, has met a young man who is half the size of his rival, the irony of fate, as dictated by the inexorable onward march of Time, that the veteran champion's opponent should prove to be the young man he has in no slight degree assisted on to the ladder of billiard skill and fame. In H. W. Stevenson, who is little more than half the size of his rival, John Roberts has the most formidable opponent he has yet encountered.

The opening moves were, as is usually the case, not prolific of big breaks, and the players took time to settle down. Roberts was the first to get going. Without making bigger breaks than 40, 49, and 69, he still acquired a useful lead as the difference between 229 and 52 implies. The veteran played very attractively and as briefly as possible. Stevenson, after two very minor attempts and those mainly in the nature of defensive strokes, managed to get the ball to his liking. He brought off a brilliant break into a top corner pocket, and proceeded to collect 121 points from the shot. Roberts tried, but failed to reply. Stevenson won up to his break a most brilliant and prolonged display. For five and twenty minutes he held the table, all the while the points flowed freely from his prolific break. Not until his effort had a great break of 416 did he stop.

As usual the final stroke was simplicity itself. But the needs of position asked for more than the player could give. The attempted holing of the red ball in the right top pocket was the final note in this much acclaimed compilation. Roberts showed his full power and undaunted spirit by making amends to the tune of 198, well and truly and again won up to his break a most brilliant and prolonged display. For five and twenty minutes he held the table, all the while the points flowed freely from his prolific break. Not until his effort had a great break of 416 did he stop.

At night Stevenson, in the presence of another large company, announced his unfinished 23, but broke down at his very first shot, a loss of the white. Roberts was reckoned to be an honest man and had already brought many thieves to book, while on his word depended the retention of his position as the Settlement never can allow. It is absurd when he tries to dictate to the foreign authorities as he is very fond of doing, and in so acting has succeeded in thoroughly arousing the ire of our local authorities. The Mixed Court over must be a thorn in our side, a ill, we are mainly responsible for its existence; and it is nothing more than insolence when the Taotai refuses to carry out reforms which we consider necessary in order to conform to primary rules of civilization. The accommodation provided for female convicts has long been a scandal almost to decency, and although the Taotai has been officially requested to give instructions for their accommodation elsewhere, he refuses to give the needed instruction which results in the cells, which have been specially provided in the Municipal Gaol for female prisoners until the Mixed Court prison be reformed, remaining empty.

It is time that the arrogance of the Shanghai Taotai should be subdued. Starting with a difficult slow opening essay, in which he improved his total by 74 points. Here the balls ran into line near the right top pocket. After a survey of the situation, the veteran attempted a screw-break losing hazard, but there was no power behind the cue ball, and a weak failure attended the attempt. Stevenson was stationary, or all but so, for two innings now, and he had to watch his rival carefully put together 67 points before he came to the table again.

Roberts made way for the leader as the result of a surprisingly poor shot. It was a loser from the D, one of the plainest of its kind. Starting with a difficult slow opening essay, in which he improved his total by 74 points. Here the balls ran into line near the right top pocket. After a survey of the situation, the veteran attempted a screw-break losing hazard, but there was no power behind the cue ball, and a weak failure attended the attempt. Stevenson was stationary, or all but so, for two innings now, and he had to watch his rival carefully put together 67 points before he came to the table again.

Stevenson raised a loud outburst of applause in appreciation of a running across-the-table cannon. This placed the balls in a favourable position. Showing some dandy cue-ball work along the top cushion, he then broke into more open method. The reflection of the physics of winning hazards now became the feature of his progress. Always he drove the coloured ball into a corner square when not holding it, coming back to the same position by the use of a well-judged cannon. The very essence of top-of-the-table play was being presented.

At 147 the outlook became hazy. Having to go back to the half-ball half-circle after playing a losing hazard, the ensuing break left the balls awkwardly. Stevenson hesitated between a screw-break and a cushion-cannon. Choosing the latter, he scored safely, but for the second time he lost a bad position. A pretty run-through loser now matters right. With a succession of easy shots the younger cueist went on till the total of his effort reached 214. At this point the object-white unluckily entered the left middle pocket. Stevenson went out for a double bank, cleverly sending his own and the red ball behind the line.

Roberts tried to cannon off the side cushion, but although making connection with the red, he could not score. Starting upon a lengthy tenure of the table with a loss of the red into the left middle pocket, the leader displayed his abilities to even greater advantage than before. Some beautiful little strokes, notably a delightful kiss-cannon, were willingly recognised by the onlookers. On and on Stevenson went, and thus early in the game sympathetic remarks could be heard passed at the hard nature of the task Roberts had set himself. At last, at 166, a screw loss of the red brought Roberts to the centre.

A period of safety-play passed by the veteran at last made headway. He rattled through a break of 163 with all his accustomed dash and quickness. At the close he failed to hole the red, a stroke which had frequently baffled him. He left the coloured ball hovering on the brink of the right top pocket. Playing at it the full length of the table, a distance increased by the oblique character of the stroke, Stevenson caused the coloured ball to drop by a perfectly judicious shot.

For quite a long time now, the best things accomplished were some elegant cannons by Roberts. Playing a big game, Stevenson never left off scoring until the close of play was reached. At the finish he was left master of the situation with an unfinished break of 163 to his credit. Closing scores:—

Stevenson (in play) 3334
Roberts 782
Stevenson averaged 44 per innings and Roberts 26.

The heat broke were:
Stevenson: 405, 214, 166 and 121.
Roberts: 490 and 103.

SANDOW AT MADRAS.

His Pupils and Indian Wrestlers.

The challenges and counter-challenges that have passed between Sandow and the Indian wrestlers have considerably added to the interest taken in his visit to Madras. Recently Mahbool Khan, the Indian wrestler, failed to appear to stand up to one of Sandow's pupils, and this was attributed to his courage having failed him at the last moment.

For the disappointment caused by Mahbool Khan's absence the public were amply repaid by the presence of fresh men looking for laurels. Three Indian wrestlers, the leader of whom is named Karoom Buksh, who is reputed to be a clever exponent of the art, had accepted Sandow's offer, and all three were allowed to try conclusions with Sandow's pupils. First, one of Karoom Buksh's juniors was pitted against Sandow's French pupil, to wrestle in the Greco-Roman style. The Frenchman was by far the bigger and heavier man, and though the little Indian was unable to overthrow his sturdy opponent, he rendered a very good account of himself, and there was great excitement when he more than once forced the Frenchman to adopt defensive tactics. The match ended in a draw. Sandow's Indian pupil was then pitted against the other junior wrestler and against Karoom Buksh himself. With a thorough knowledge of the art of Indian wrestling, backed by the muscular powers derived from Sandow's system of physical culture, the Indian pupil proved himself superior to both his opponents, and defeated them easily, amidst loud applause.

Mr. Sandow's manager has now addressed a direct challenge to Mahbool Khan. I do not want to impute "funk" to the giant (he writes), but to prove to the public that we are genuine in our regard, and to ascertain if it is "funk" that avays Mahbool Khan.

I now beg to convert Mr. Sandow's offer of R100 (one hundred rupees) for the defeat of two pupils rightly to the sum of R2,000 (two thousand rupees) and R1000 (one thousand rupees respectively).

The following is the challenge I now make to Mahbool Khan viz.:-(1) If within the space of 15 (fifteen) or 20 (twenty) minutes (the choice of either of these times to be at the said Mahbool Khan's option) he succeeds in defeating two of Mr. Sandow's pupils this (Tuesday) evening, and to-morrow (Wednesday) evening, I will give him the sum of R2,000 (two thousand rupees). (2) If the said Mahbool Khan elects to wrestle one pupil only each evening mentioned, and succeeds in defeating them both, I will give him R1,000 (one thousand rupees).

Any Meals can be supplied on Board at a charge of $1.69 per meal. On Sundays, Passengers desiring to have a Private Cabin which has accommodation for two or more Passengers, will be charged $3 extra.

First-class Passengers who do not care to return on the Excursion Sunday, will be allowed to do so the following day (Monday) on production of the Return Half Ticket. Should the Steamer not run on the Monday, owing to the Boiler Cleaning, due notice will be given by the Captain, and the Half Ticket will be available for the following day. The Ship is lit throughout by Electricity.

The Steamship's Wharf at Hongkong is at the Western end of Wing Lok Street.

LAXATINE IS THE REMEDY.

ALMOST EVERYONE, AT THE END OF SUMMER, FEELS WILTED AND RUN DOWN.

We who have been used to the heat of January and February as well, only to collapse when the weather is appreciably cooler. The reason is that the Summer strain is just beginning to tell on us. We need to CLEAR THE SYSTEM OF POISONOUS WASTES, and to stimulate the Liver and Kidneys into action.

CHOOSING AN AFTERNOON, we look for certain qualities—gentleness of action and palatability.

THE NORTH SEA FISHERS.

INTERVIEW WITH ONE OF THEM.

It is a hard life twining with the North Sea Fleet, even without being fired at by Russian warships, and James Barnes, with whom a representative has had a talk, sold a grim tale.

"I have had to give it up," said he, "who turned from his work of shelling boats ashore. "I was 'doctoring' continually during the last five years, often with a chronic disease of the stomach. The doctor took me to two specialists, but none of them gave me any hope of getting well. They said I must live on milk food only, and that is no diet for a sailor! So I gave up the struggle."

"An old friend of mine who, like myself, had been laid up, was cured—like magic, he said—by Dr Williams' pink pills, and I, too, began to take them. So soon did they begin to do me good that, before the third bottle was finished I felt quite my old self. I could take my regular food without the horrible sick faintness after it which made me so miserable before I used these pills. In fact, I improved all round, and am now a younger man altogether, ready any time for a good, hard day's work. I can work from early morning to night, and never feel tired. I have astonished my doctors. One of them said, 'Your stomach has healed splendidly' and when I told him that was owing to Dr Williams' pink pills, he said, 'They have done wonderful things for you!'"

"Mr Barnes, whose home is at 27, West street, Cleethorpes, Grimsby, England, is one of many bread-winners who owe the continuance of their working life to Dr Williams' pink pills. These pills give strength; they are not a purgative; they cure indigestion and stomach disorders, as they cure rheumatism, eczema, anaemia, and other disorders arising out of impoverished or poisoned blood, by making new blood. St Vitus' dance, paralysis, fits, nervous breakdown, and other nerve troubles are cured by them in the same way, and women know why the new, regular blood which these pills make does them so much good. Dr Williams' Medicine Co., Holborn Viaduct, London, send a bottle for two shillings and nine pence, or six for thirteen and nine; but they can be had at most medicine shops."
